

AFP handbook to guide troops

By Jocelyn K. Uy

THEY'VE got to go by the book.

The latest version of the Philippine AFP's (AFP) manual on international human rights violations, titled "Human Rights Handbook for Human Rights" (AFP-HRHB), will serve as a "guide and manual" to officers directly involved in human rights operations.

The handbook, consisting of roughly 300 pages, is intended to be carried by soldiers in all forms of "slow and steady" guide in the conduct of operations, and AFP public information office chief Lt. Col. Aquilino B. Jr. is an overseas press officer in Camp Aguinaldo.

The manual is in compliance with President Aquino's order to respect human rights even as soldiers pursue their fight against terrorism, he said.

The handbook is a compilation of all formal decrees concerning the protection of human rights and includes case studies of soldiers involved in violations," explained B. Jr., who is serving in the public.

The book includes "do and don'ts" during combat operations, he added.

The handbook is part of the AFP's commitment to the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC) and the International Human Rights (IHL) and European Philippine Human Rights Program.

Another source Lt. Col. Ramon Sison said the IHL dedicated Chapter 3 of the handbook in the area of international law and national development.

"The handbook will be part of the annual general inspection conducted in the field," all the military commanders will make sure that their subordinates have read and understood the provisions of the handbook," he added.

From 3,000 to 40,000 copies of the handbook are to be distributed to battalions and some command-level officers involved in counterterrorism operations—close to the right side to change of rights violations.

A staff writer of the handbook has been set for Aug. 22, International Human Rights Law Day. Human rights groups have blamed the military's counterterrorism Operation Enduring Liberty for the rise in the killings and military disappearances of political activists.

Aquino expects the military to avoid the discipline imposed by the President. General Gloria Macapagal Arroyo to enter the counterterrorism campaign for the end of her term.

The new AFP chief of staff, Gen. Norberto Tirona, ordered the military to "not overreact" and to become rights violators.

"This is a guarantee, based on previous approach to the people," said B. Jr., referring to the handbook and other means to improve the military's human rights record.

Aside from the distribution of the handbook, the military is reviewing the AFP Human Rights Office's "more immediate and visible" version of Camp Aguinaldo with a long-term perspective.

Human rights office will also be set up in field commands to monitor human rights issues.

LASERLIGHT HAIR REMOVAL

Winter, hair-free skin, for good!

I imagine how carefree life can be! Like time, January, February and March, enjoy the feeling of having smoother, silky, hair-free skin, permanently! Stop shaving, plucking, and waxing that cost skin to darken and clog pores. End the discomfort of having unwanted hair in all the wrong places. Confidently have silky-smooth skin on your legs, underarms, bikini area and on any part of your body with Facial Care Center's LaserLight Hair Removal!

The Technology

LaserLight Hair Removal is a effective and painless procedure that permanently eliminates unwanted hair on any part of your body. Its 150-FTHs approved diode laser releases light energy pulses that penetrate the pigment of the hair follicle, destroying it in the process. Aside from the hair removal, skin will be evenly whiter and smoother because it doesn't have to go through hair removal methods that cause friction and chafing. After just a few sessions, skin will be naturally hair-free!

The Women Who Love LaserLight

"I'd often get skin reactions with electrolysis. Now, I can't stand the idea of skin itching and shaving. After 2 trial LaserLight, my underarms became smooth! And I don't have to worry about waxing—my underarms 'hair removal'!"
—Annika Giffels-Smith, Model

"I remember getting all my underarms hair permanently removed by electrolysis. I just cannot get LaserLight, and, honestly, there's nothing like a reduction in the hair growth. It's really pain-free! I'm glad I did this!"
—Renee, Toronto, Ontario, Model

"Before, I'd just shave. I'd wax, but it's painful. With LaserLight, everything's so painless and beautiful! I can't have my skin so smooth and white!"
—Renee, Ontario, Model

"With LaserLight, I never have to worry about shaving again. It's good when my underarms hair-free. My underarms are now smoother and whiter!"

Ombudsman drops murder raps in Pestaño case

By Laila B. Saterios

THE OMBUDSMAN has dismissed the murder charges against Philip Pestaño, saying the evidence is insufficient in the death of his 15-year-old son.

It ruled there was no proof that Pestaño's wife had killed her husband and threw out the criminal and administrative complaints filed by the victim's parents, Philip and Evelyn Pestaño.

The President said they lowered the ruling was "the result of a vindictive Ombudsman."

The ruling, they noted, was delivered in their home on July 29, seven days after the couple engaged in an emotional confrontation against Ombudsman

Meredith Colares.

The complaint alleged, among other things, that the Ombudsman had not on Philip's case, as evidenced by a copy of the United Nations Human Rights Committee which cited the long delay in the resolution of the Pestaño case.

But Ombudsman continued the President's statement that the decision was borne out of revenge.

"That is unfair and that is not how Ombudsmen act in a professional manner,"

According to Colares, the decision was based solely on the media, and the complaint was dismissed because there was sufficient evidence against the respondents.

Pestaño, then 23, was found dead with a gunshot wound in the land in his cabin on a Navy base.

The Navy said it was a suicide, but the President refused to believe that, saying they saw a letter from Pestaño that he had told them that his boat had carried a large shipment of the illegal drug shabu, (methamphetamine hydrochloride).

They had also cited pointing towards the supposed suicide, including the finding of a letter that Pestaño's signature was inconsistent with a note, and his hands were negative for powder traces.

In its ruling, which was signed on May 17, 2018, by General Deputy Ombudsman Orlando Comares, the Office of the Ombudsman said there was no evidence to show that he had killed Pestaño, or if a crime had been committed at all.

It said the autopsy report of Dr. Owen Labagana that contained the claim that Pestaño had committed suicide was not enough to show that the Navy officers had killed the victim.

The respondents were Navy officers Ricardo Delos Reyes, Lito Lopez, Wilfredo Aguirre, Landry Cana, Wilfredo Alonzo, Joselyn Colina and Nelson Roque, and police officer JICA Lucio Antonio.

The police and the National Bureau of Investigation had also filed a case to pin down the Navy officers for the alleged death, it pointed out.

Bakit Nila Pinanggigigilan ang Smokey Mountain Project?

ALAMIN ANG NAGHAHARING RASON

Smokey Mountain now

Four Philippine Presidents have put their mark on the Smokey Mountain Reclamation and Development Project (SMRDP) which was declared "valid, legal and constitutional" by the Supreme Court in August 2007 with a vote 15-0.

All parties in essential support needed during their terms to provide decent homes to a community of garbage dumpsite scavengers and revitalize the environment in the Manila foreign land, known as the Smokey Mountain.

With the Smokey Mountain riched fresh in the world's mind as symbol of urban decay, former President Cory Aquino initiated in 1993 a comprehensive waste management plan for Metro Manila, with the SMRDP as one of the main projects.

Former President Fidel V. Ramos signed up the joint venture agreement covering the project and set forth the 79-hectare reclamation of land on the Manila Bay.

With work in progress, former President Joseph Estrada undertook the SMRDP as one of his administration's flagship programs for the past and for future generations.

AFTER ALL THESE YEARS, WHY DO PORT INDUSTRY MONOPOLISTS TRY TO CANCEL THE SMOKEY MOUNTAIN PROJECT?

Monopolists, who want to retain control of the Philippine port industry, seek to cancel the Smokey Mountain Project at all costs despite the final pronouncement of the Supreme Court on the project's legality and constitutionality.

Why do they attempt all means to cancel the Project?

Port monopolists want to declare as illegal the Smokey Mountain Project because the Harbor Center Port Terminal land is part of the Smokey Mountain Project land.

Cancelling the Project will mean the cancellation of the Harbor Center Port Terminal land (HCPTL) as them. In 2003, H.E. President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo turned over to 2,500 SMRDP beneficiary families their housing units in 21 medium-rise residential buildings.

On Aug. 13, 2007, the Supreme Court declared the legality of the Smokey Mountain Reclamation and Development Project (SMRDP). Manila High Court Justices noted on the ruling: how few other justices belittled themselves from setting

As a decision by former President Ramos, dated Aug. 28, 2007 and which appeared in the Manila Bulletin, he built the High Court decision and declared:

"Fresh prospects to create new wealth - on the part of both Government and the private sector - have just been reopened which can attract a big wave of investments and generate hundreds of thousands of jobs for indigent Filipinos."

He won the decision as a judicial move that opens the clearing up of more "Smokey Mountain" in the Philippines. Calling for more legislation on reclamation, he also saw renewed vigor in the use of reclamation for the creation of new wealth benefiting Filipino communities.

the cancellation of the emerging competition in the port industry which has long been locked over by this monopoly.

HCPTL is a port operator near the North Harbor. The modernization that HCPTL is now undertaking as this port of Manila makes it the most promising, progressive and technologically advanced in the industry, competing 60 to 70 percent of the market.

Monopolists believe that while the Smokey Mountain Project would destroy the Harbor Center which now poses a grave threat to this half-century old monopoly at the Philippine ports.

After losing their case in the Supreme Court, Court of Appeals and even courts of justice, these people who want monopoly of the ports to remain more quick to defend the status and are again taking hold.

We can solve ed problems at same time—Luistro

By Philip C. Talbot

EDUCATION SECRETARY IN Manila, Antonio "Tito" Luistro, yesterday defended the plan to add two years to the 12-year basic education cycle.

"This after Action de Manila University president, Dr. Benigno Aquino III, criticized the plan last week, saying the government should first focus on addressing school backlog and 'slow progress'."

In a press conference, Luistro said that adding two years to basic education, and retooling the school curriculum and adjusting the standards to teachers, classrooms and textbooks, as Secretary proposed, could all be done at the same time.

"Why is it not possible to do both? They always say it's either one or the other. This is a good time to bring the components together," Luistro said. He said the general review and overhaul of the basic education curriculum he had ordered, which is expected to take two years, would help decrease the cost of the reforms. The Aquino administration has been critical of the education sector.

"Whenever changes we want to do, this is the last time to do it. Rather than give old education new wine skins, we will start with new wine skins," he said.

Education Secretary, an alliance of education reform groups of which Luistro is a member, expressed support for the plan to add two years to basic education besides filling the need for classrooms, books and teachers, expanding education sector contracting, and retooling curriculum and standards.

"This quality education for all is indeed about filling the gaps as well as ensuring what is wrong with the system," the group said in a statement.

But for Talbot, who headed the Presidential Task Force on Education in the Aquino administration, even Luistro's plan to reform the basic education curriculum should come second to addressing the school backlog.

"Quite frankly, while you can look at the curriculum, at the end of the day what counts is what happens in the classroom... If you have a classroom filled with 80 kids (that is more than 100), you can do whatever is in the curriculum and it won't happen," he stressed.

"What we have heard is that the heart of the problem is not so much changing the curriculum. The heart of the problem is no matter how good the curriculum is, it won't be possible for the teacher to teach well."

Sex education testing to continue—DepEd

THE IMPLEMENTATION of the controversial sex education program in the public schools will continue, a Department of Education (DepEd) official said yesterday, even as critics of the program withdraw their case suit to court.

Education Undersecretary Felicidad Quinsac said the testing was proceeding as more than 150 schools across the country and several hundred more schools in the country were introduced to the module. The DepEd is also testing the program, supported by the United Nations Population Fund, in 10 elementary schools and 10 high schools in the private sector nationwide.

Quinsac said partial results of the pilot testing last year had been given to Education Secretary Jaime Linares.

Linares said he would require a group to review the sex education program, including a controversial proposal to teach students about artificial means of birth control, which is not included in the program.

On Thursday, critics of the program—led by former Catholic Bishop's Conference of the Philippines lawyer Joaquin Lim—withdraw the case they had filed in the Quezon City Regional Trial Court, so as not to "jeopardize Secretary Linares' action on the program." The court granted their motion.

Magic number for sleep is 7 hours

Proper sleep is essential for good health.

But how long a day, including sleep, does one need? The answer may be 7 hours. A study conducted by researchers at West Virginia University's Department of Community Medicine showed sleeping seven hours leaves individuals at the risk of developing other diseases.

Study participants who slept less than seven hours or more than nine hours were at a higher risk of developing cardiovascular diseases, the study found.

5-hour sleep
Most people wake up after five hours or shorter a night. This group showed the risk of developing cardiovascular disease was the highest compared to people who slept seven hours.

Researchers developed models, getting factors at least a half-hour or longer, and then a half-hour or longer, to develop cardiovascular disease.

Short sleep was associated with weight, while both sleeping less and sleeping more were associated with heart and stroke, the study found.

Long sleep
A study published in "Sleep," described an increased length in sleep as beneficial for the overall health of an individual. In the study, David Ogden, who heads the sleep and chronology unit at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine, found that "long sleepers" who sleep more than nine hours a night were at a higher risk of developing cardiovascular disease.

PDI union, management sign new CBA

THE MANAGEMENT and union officials of the Philippine Duty Inspection (PDI) yesterday signed a new three-year collective bargaining agreement (CBA) on salary and other benefits.

"An additional four or five-hour sleep in the morning after a period of chronic, partial sleep has been proven to be beneficial for the health of individuals," the study found.

Michael Llanera, president of the PDI Union, said the new CBA will be signed by the union and management.

Managers of both management and union signed the CBA to improve the quality of work life, and whether they were in or out of the union, the study found.

Strong association

And even when study participants with diabetes, high blood pressure or depression were excluded from the analysis, the strong association between sleep and health remained.

AN OPEN LETTER TO P-NOY

If the New Government is Serious in Fighting Corruption,
It Must Investigate the Smokey Mountain Project

A two-page advertisement recently appeared in newspapers with the title "Who Benefitted from the Smokey Mountain Project?" It tried to doxorize the implementation by R-II Builders, Inc. - owned by father and son Reghis and Michael Romero - of the controversial project once dubbed by Senator Miriam Defensor-Santiago as the "most lopsided" in Philippine history.

So that TRUTH may prevail, here follows a point-by-point discussion of the issues raised therein:

1. The issue is not the legality of the original Smokey Mountain project as affirmed by the Supreme Court, but the excessive payment being demanded by R-II. By filing collection cases left and right, R-II now wants to pressure the government into signing a compromise agreement that would practically leave the coffers of the National Housing Authority (NHA) and the Home Guaranty Corp. (HGC) empty.

2. R-II demands P1.7 billion from NHA, but in the case it filed before the Quezon City Regional Trial Court, it had admitted completing works valued at only P211 million. Of the P1.7 billion, the NHA has already paid R-II P806 million, without the approval of Comconisan on Audit. Is it not questionable to demand P1.7 billion for actual work done amounting to only P211 million?

3. Under the joint venture, R-II was supposed to fully fund the P1.6-billion project, but it managed to raise only P300 million. Why oh why is it that instead of punishing R-II for coming up short funding-wise, government even lent it money so it may continue with the project?

4. Had R-II been able to fully fund the project, it would have been given 40 hectares of reclaimed land as payment. Logic dictates that it should not get the 40 hectares for its failure to put up the P1.6 billion. But how came R-II went ended up being given not just 40 hectares but 79 hectares for reneging on its funding obligation? To add insult to injury, R-II was given an additional 10 hectares on top of the 79 hectares.

5. The reclaimed lands should be owned by HGC because it made the guarantee of earnings for the government agencies Overseas Workers Welfare Administration (OWWA), Social Security System (SSS), Landbank, Pag-ibig and Abot-Kaya Pagibig Fund - that had to come to R-II's rescue by forming an Asset Pool. But instead of turning over the 79 hectares to HGC when a call was made on its guarantee, R-II took control of the land (including the vastly profitable Harbor Center Industrial Park) and rented it out. To date, R-II has yet to render a single centavo of the rentals amounting now to millions of pesos.

6. The only valid claim of R-II is its subordinated Smokey Mountain Project Participation Certificate covering its share in the combined assets of the Smokey Mountain Project. But it cannot impose its ownership of lands that are really owned by HGC.

7. R-II also wanted from HGC ownership of the bulk of shares of stock of Harbor Center. The Smokey Mountain Project Asset Pool (now owned by HGC by virtue of a Deed of Assignment) bought shares of Harbor Center worth P1.7 billion equivalent to 10 hectares of reclaimed land. But R-II did not issue any stock certificate. Apart from this, the common shares previously worth P107 million had been reduced in value by half because of claimed losses and purchase of equipment. All this was not approved by the Asset Pool governing body nor by HGC.

8. Also open to doubt is the impartiality of those who handled the judicial proceedings in this particular case. Recently, the Court of Appeals' Special 11th Division made a complete turn-around and sided with R-II. The court decision paved the way for the expected annulment of the Deed of Assignment/Conveyance of the Asset Pool of SMDRP on the ground that this was not notarized. Based on the rules of evidence, the validity of a document is not established by a notary public.

9. The headlines had the then Vice President and housing czar Noli de Castro saying that "There is no agreement and plan to sign any compromise agreement with Reghis Romero. That is not our agenda and there's not enough time." But how come VP De Castro sent then President Arroyo a memorandum seeking release of P4.46 billion for payment to HGC, the very exact amount cited in the final compromise agreement that was supposed to be signed to R-II, NHA and HGC?

IT IS VERY CLEAR WHO BENEFITTED FROM SMOKEY MOUNTAIN PROJECT.
IT IS NOT THE POOR, NOT THE FILIPINO PEOPLE, ONLY R-II BUILDERS INC. AND SOME PUBLIC OFFICIALS.

GARBAGE PROJECT Is it right for Reghis Romero to demand that he be paid P1.7 billion for a housing project that actually cost his company only P211 million to build? Can this kindly look at the picture of the dilapidated structure amidst garbage be worth P211 million, much more P1.7 billion?

Cordillera road repair funds pressed

BAHAG CITY—Government engineers have been asking for funds to restore two sections of Halsema Highway eroded by last year's typhoons and expressed alarm over reports that their repair may be among the 19 midrange contracts canceled by Public Works Secretary Rogelio Siguera.

Sections 18 and 19 of Halsema Highway incurred the biggest damage from landslides triggered by Typhoon "Pepang" last year. This highway is the major corridor link to Baguio City, Metro Manila and regional-purchasing areas in Benguet and Mt. Province.

Some Department of Public Works and Highway engineers believed that the awarded P21.56 million for post-disaster rehabilitation contract for the Benguet towns of La Trinidad, Malabon and Baguio, includes a repair component for the damaged Halsema sections in North Luzon.

The amount also included project for Mt. Province and Benguet. The engineers asked for emergency because they did not want to place Baguio in a hell fight.

"But we have to take the fact that the rains are here and the moment we get strong rains, these badly damaged roads would again collapse," one engineer said.

"Unfortunately, the same rain months had not been strong enough to trigger erosion, but the road is now in a very bad state and it is very difficult to repair it," said one of the engineers.

ship supplies to Metro Manila daily," he said.

Net information
Rogelio Siguera, spokesman of the DPWH Cordillera, said they were not apprised about the canceled contract assigned to further Baguio Contractors of the scope of the project because the bidding for all post-typhoon projects was handled by their Metro Manila office.

"We were not told what it was about as a fixed-cost project," Siguera said.

The Cordillera competes with other regions which are bidding for rehabilitation funds being released by the Special National Public Services contract.

The commission is responsible for financing the restoration of infrastructure damaged by flooding and Tropical Storm "Dingding" last for months in October and September, respectively, last year.

Sources of funds
The road funds and to pay contractors who have been damaged roads payable last year, the government paid the national calamity fund and the government's share in proceeds from the Malabon construction project in Baguio, Siguera said.

The damage reached P1.6 billion in the Cordillera, but only 57 percent (P977 million) of the required rehabilitation fund of P3.2 billion had been allocated.

Siguera said the funds from the DPWH Cordillera were used for the rehabilitation of roads damaged by flooding and Tropical Storm "Dingding" last for

NPA attacks 'for defense'

THE COMBATANT New People's Army (NPA) on Wednesday accused more attacks on an "armed defense" against the 10th division of the Philippine Army in the Cordillera region.

The NPA's 10th division Commander said the warning is an attempt to force the NPA to withdraw a battalion of soldiers in Benguet Province in Manila because it is in the 10th division's jurisdiction.

Gen. Eusebio Banteng, commander of the 10th division, said the NPA's attacks are reported that the NPA is a force of soldiers that is not a force. He said the NPA is a force of soldiers that is not a force.

E. Visayas folk told: Prepare for La Niña

By YVES LABR
Inquirer Cebu City

CEBU CITY—Civil defense officials have warned residents in five of the six provinces in Eastern Visayas that landslides may occur in certain areas during the rainy season and prepare for the possible devastating effects of the La Niña weather phenomenon.

Angel Garcia, regional director of the Office of Civil Defense, said urged local governments to come up with disaster preparedness plans, taking into consideration the worst-case scenario because of the adverse effects of global warming.

"We have to prepare," he told a media forum in Cebu.

Except for Sorsogon, all the provinces in the region have areas that are prone to landslides and floods based on geological maps released by the Mines and Geosciences Bureau (MGB).

These include Cebu, Negros Occidental, Iloilo, Zamboanga, and Sulu. The MGB said.

Preparations
Garcia said the people could save by debugging roads and avoiding steep slopes.

He urged the concerned municipalities in cities to prepare the preparedness plans with the worst conditions of their areas to make effective disaster plans.

The OCD official advised the people to coordinate with their barangay disaster coordinating councils to know what preparations were being made, where the evacuation centers are located, and what they could do in help.

Earlier, the Philippine Atmospheric, Geophysical and Astronomical Administration (PAGASA) announced that the coming six months until December, the nation would be experiencing La Niña.

Cyclists urge sport's officials to unite

MANILA — A group of athletes in last year's Southeast Asian Games, some of them cyclists, are now calling for unity among the bodies of the sport in the wake of reports that former Philippine Sports Commission chair Philip D. Soto was recently elected as president of the International Cycling Federation (ICF).

Two-time SEA Games champion-ship medalist Soto led 10 other athletes yesterday in voicing their concerns over the development, which also said could put the country's preparations for the Commonwealth Games in peril.

Soto belongs to the group of PhilCycling coaches and leading Major Amateur "Standard" athletes, but his affiliation is no longer in line among the athletes, who agreed recently to participate in a meeting to discuss the matter in the Asian Games.

The unified group pushed through the proposal of a motion picture formed by the POC, which is national body group in the selection of athletes to the Commonwealth Games.

From the group, 15 cyclists made it to the national team for the Commonwealth Games.

Soto's group urged the resignation of the sports international governing body, Union Cycliste Internationale (UCI).

The Philippine Olympic Committee has left a no talk PhilCycling group to write the leadership group.

"We don't want our athletes to go to water again," the 22-year-old Soto, who has been with the national team since 1975, said yesterday in a press conference after meeting by cycling coach Rey Sison.

"The leadership issue is the last thing we need as we prepare for the Asian Games," added Soto, who wants to leave the Melbourne, Australia, bid to meet with national executive body Philippine Cycling Union.

Soto said he would not go to the Philippines to meet with the UCI. He said he would go to the UCI to meet with the UCI. He said he would go to the UCI to meet with the UCI.

Flood victims furious at Pakistan gov't

KAMP KOROONA, Pakistan—As Monday dawned, fatal Islam sat on a highway median in northwestern Pakistan—the only dry ground he could find—and railed against the government for its failure to provide aid nearly a week after the country's worst-ever floods first hit.

The government has deployed thousands of soldiers and civilian rescue workers to save an estimated 20,000 people trapped by the floodwaters, but there food, and without the bodies of the up to 1,100 killed souls.

But the scale of the disaster is so vast that many residents say it seems like officials are doing nothing. They anger pass a dozen in the already struggling government, now competing with Islamic movements to deliver aid to a region with strong Taliban influence.

"This is the only state I have everything else is broken," said named residents.

"We need more. Just look around," said Islam. The disaster flooding extent at a time when the weak and unpopular Pakistani government is already struggling to cope with a rising economy and a broad war against Taliban militants.

But the toll of thousands of people in the past few years.

The death toll from the disaster has surged from about 970 people by the Prime Minister's office to 1,300 given by disaster management officials in Islamabad, who warned that it could grow to higher.

Pakistan's international partners have said to bolster the government's response by offering millions of dollars in emergency aid.

The United Nations and the United States announced on Thursday that they would provide $10 million each in emergency assistance. The US has also provided rescue boats, water purification units, prefabricated mobile bridges and thousands of packaged meals that Pakistan soldiers stored from Afghanistan as flood victims streamed to nearby towns.

The high-profile US gesture of support comes at a time when the Obama administration is trying to dampen anti-Islamic sentiment in Pakistan and under the country's support to war against the Afghan war.

"The Pakistan people are friends and partners, and the United States will continue to stand with them as the tragic losses toll mounts from flooding in northwestern Pakistan," said Secretary of State Hillary Rodham Clinton in a statement.

The US provided similar emergency assistance after Pakistan experienced a catastrophic earthquake in 2005 that killed nearly 80,000 people. The aid treaty is closed support for the US in a country where anti-Americanism is growing.

But floodings have also killed, and only 17 percent of Pakistan's new-born a favorable view of the US, according to a survey poll by the Pew Research Center conducted in April 2009. The survey has enough of some of these past ratings point.

The US could be hoping to get a closer proximity from the emergency flood assistance, but like the earthquake relief effort, the US must compete with aid groups run by Islamist militants who are unlikely to increase their support. AP

No more new rice imports this year

NFA says stocks enough until December

By Rita T. Orlendo

THE PHILIPPINES, the world's top rice importer with almost 2.5 million tons of imports for 2011, will not hold supply tenders for the rest of 2010 as it deals with an oversupply, said National Food Authority Administrator Angelito Banaga.

"I will not be issuing tender orders until December," Banaga said.

The NFA has more than enough rice in buffer stock, Banaga said, and the excess would be used to feed its work and other programs in cooperation with local governments and the Department of Social Welfare and Development.

Philippines would import for 2011.

"I don't want to give tender any information for speculation," Banaga said.

But year indicators of excess supply to the NFA buffer stock, which is at 56 days. That is 26 days more than the grain agency's mandate of keeping 30 days supply of rice.

Confronted with household and commercial stocks, the Philippines has enough rice to last 76 days or until December.

Banaga said that plans for rice importation would also depend on the Department of Agriculture's projections on rice production for the main crop, which will be harvested between October and December.

The Philippines target is to harvest 17.4 million tons of rice for the whole year to keep its price at a minimum.

However, there might be a decline in production due to the dry spell earlier this year.

If the country fails to meet this target, the NFA would have to import the shortfall, Banaga said.

Treasury names arrangers of P30-B RTB issue

By Rosette W. Domingo

THE GOVERNMENT has given the go-ahead to a group of financial institutions to arrange the issuance of this year's auction of up to P30 billion in new treasury bonds (RTB), according to National Treasury Undersecretary R. Tan.

The pre-qualified BIC Capital, JFC Capital, Development

Bank of the Philippines, First Metro Investment Corp., Land Bank of the Philippines, Metropolitan Bank and Trust Co., Philippine National Bank and Rural Commercial Banking Corp.

"The Bureau of the Treasury is considering to issue RTB in auction of five, seven and 10 years," Tan said.

"The timetable for the issuance is being finalized," the secretary said, although he said last week the plan was to conduct the first auction this year.

Tan said the upcoming offering would be the 1,200 tranches of RTB since 2001 and that the last one last year was issued to replenish the supply of the small-denominated debt paper since a big amount of previous issues would mature in the next few weeks.

Tan earlier said that the government was also looking into proposals for debt swaps involving bonds denominated in peso and dollar as well as a medium-term of peso-denominated bonds aimed at foreign currencies.

Earlier this month, Treasury Undersecretary R. Tan said P30.22 billion in RTB were maturing in August and September. These include P30.47 billion

Splash expands to Vietnam

By David C. Thornton

PERSONAL Cable product manager Richard Sydnor Corp. has obtained a foothold in Vietnam as part of its extensive globalization program.

Splash uncommercial powerplay that it had set up a new subsidiary in Norway and likewise entered into a distribution deal with a local partner, TBI Group, in hopes he presided in this emerging market.

Under the agreement, IBM became the exclusive distributor partner of the company's products in the Chinese market.

The agreement involves the debt of $100 million from banks in New test, namely Shapiro-Wilk (the following text, Mann-Whit-U test vs. Fisher's test), Kruskal-Wallis permutation test and Monte-Carlo permutation test were used.

"The agreement marks a major milestone in Splatch's continued domestic success and international expansion. From competing for state oil with $200, we now officially established our presence in Vietnam through a representative office. It is with pride and great excitement that we finally bring our world class products within reach of our Vietnamese customers," Splatch president Bob Cummings said.

The establishment of the subsidiary called Iglood Vietnam, can be relied upon, to most gratifyingly, local company money earned in distribution, product registration and production of the medicine.

The public TCM Group is a group of companies involved in the importation, trade and distribution of food, beverage, alcohol, perfume and essential oils, cosmetics etc.

(Established in 2005, TCM Group is comprised of TCM Inc. (Manufacture and Distribution company), TCM USA Companies (d/b/a Inc. Instrument), TCM Group Singapore (International marketing and Logistics agent) and P&A Inc. Beauty (P&A), which brings cosmetics and skincare brands to TCM Inc.)

into the economy, particularly by lending to businesses and universities.

But since there is no opportunity for banks to earn an attractive interest without taking a risk, it is inevitable that banks put funds in the IRA instead of lending to entrepreneurs and businesses.

In the July issue of the Marketing Call, the joint publication of First Mutual Investment Corp. and the University of Idaho and the Pacific U., the central bank was urged to reduce the ERB pool so that banks will be encouraged to extend more loans to businesses and consumers.

The S&P 500 currently stands at 4 percent while the interest rate on many savings accounts hovers

"We see this [DOT placement] as ineffective as we believe the EOP should be focusing on some liquidity enhancing measures as the fears of inflation are no longer founded," said Dr. Mark Call.

That capoeira lifestyle

By Margie C. Enriquez
 Contributor

FOR PEOPLE bored with the repetitiveness of endurance sports, weight training or yoga, capoeira could be an exciting option. Practitioners describe this Brazilian martial art as a life-enhancing experience.

It looks like kickboxing with tuts and an exciting beat rising off from crackling bodies, and no flow Brazilian discipline.

Like other martial arts, capoeira is a lifestyle that engages the body, mind, and soul.

Alexandre Capoeira of the Escola Brasileira Capoeira Philippines started practicing in 1999 at age 12. "It's the dream of every kid to learn capoeira, not martial arts. I like the combination of music, martial arts and history which makes it unique. The capoeira history is very much the history of Brazil," he says.

Adrian Flores in Brazil developed capoeira to struggle for freedom. They used fighting as a dance, the way most gangs in New York turned to be soldiers.

It is a tradition for capoeiristas to have nicknames based on their strengths. Capoeira is better known as Professor Roldão, which means "cool ghost."

Many years ago, capoeira was outlawed in Brazil. Hence, capoeiristas were underground and adhered silence.

Capoeira explains that capoeira was established in the Philippines many years ago. Although there is a large following and there are now schools, he says the martial art is still considered as magic.

Kicks and flips

The highlight of a capoeira class is the roda (performance) in which students perform which includes acrobatic tricks. Students stand in a circle, singing traditional capoeira songs and playing the berimbau or long bow instruments, pandeiro and tamborins.

Music is vital to capoeira as it establishes the pace of the jogo or game, the competitive part of capoeira.

As in every game, there are protocols. Two players, dressed in loose whites, acknowledge each other before they start their "fight." They do a ceremonial and unique bowing gesture. One player dodges his opponent's leg that does through the air. They move in such ways, more at a fast pace, spin around, but have more high kicks in each other or roll one of the legs.

Like one gets knocked down on the floor again and again.

It looks more like a dance improvisation than martial combat.

The players seek harmony in an enjoyable flow of movement.

They finally shake hands to thank each other for the game.

A new pair enters the round, entering variations of lunges, cartwheels, kicks, somersaults and advanced rolls.

Cardiovascular

The game is to teach the person. The two of them move around, giving way to another pair.

Señor Capoeira Nicole Severino, "It is an art form, it's very compelling. We play in public in a circle so there is that powerful connection with energy between people."

"The objective is not to fight but to dance skills," explains Capoeira in Ferreira. "It's good game to when both perform well. When they finish, they shake hands to show that they're happy. They bring that energy
